Join us on Instagram Live on Thursday, November 26th at 2 pm with Associate Judith Martin and Architect Mike Taylor who will be taking us through an exciting discussion on thermal bridges and why it is important to understand in high-performance buildings.

Their session will answer questions such as:

- what is a thermal bridge?
- what are some types of thermal bridges?
- where in buildings do we find thermal bridges?

To learn more about thermal bridges, join their lecture entitled “Thermal Bridge too Far: Optimizing Building Envelope Design” during Buildings Week 2020 on December 3rd. More information here.
